□ Peer Review Guide for Compare and Contrast Essays

Reviewer's Name: _____

Essay Author's Name: _____

Instructions for the Reviewer: Your goal is to be a helpful reader, not a critic. Provide specific feedback that the writer can use to improve. Answer all questions thoroughly.

PART 1: First Impressions & The Big Picture

1. After reading the essay once, summarize the main argument in your own words:
  - [This tells the author if their thesis is clear and communicated effectively.]
2. What is the greatest strength of this essay? (e.g., a strong thesis, clear examples, good organization):
  - [This builds confidence and reinforces what is working.]
3. Organization & Structure:
  - What organizational method is used? ( ) Point-by-Point ( ) Block Method
  - Is the structure consistent and easy to follow? ( ) Yes ( ) No
  - Suggestion: [Note any places where you got confused or lost. Suggest where a transition might be needed.]

PART 2: Essential Components (Provide Specific Examples)

4. Thesis Statement:
  - Locate the thesis statement and underline it. Is it arguable and specific?
  - ( ) Yes, it makes a clear argument.
  - ( ) It could be stronger. Suggestion: [How could it be more specific or debatable?]
5. Analysis & Balance:
  - Balance: Does the essay devote roughly equal attention to both subjects?
    - ( ) Yes ( ) No. Note: [Point out any sections that feel unbalanced.]

- Analysis: Find one place where the author does more than just describe—they analyze the significance of a similarity or difference. Quote it below:
  - "Quote showing analysis here..."
- Now, find one place that would be stronger with deeper analysis. Ask a "So What?" question the author could answer:
  - Example: "You state that Subject A is faster, but so what? Why does that speed matter in the broader context of your thesis?"

6. Evidence:

- Is every claim supported by evidence (examples, quotes, facts)?
- ( ) Yes ( ) No. Note: [Point out any unsupported claims.]

PART 3: Constructive Suggestions for Revision

7. What is the #1 thing the author should do to improve this essay?

- [Be specific, e.g., "Develop the analysis in the second body paragraph," "Add a transition between paragraphs 3 and 4," "Clarify the thesis statement."]

8. Sentence-Level Feedback:

- Circle any sentences that are wordy, confusing, or grammatically incorrect.
- Point out one effective sentence that is particularly clear or powerful.
